Use the clues below to locate resources on the K-3 Formative Assessment Support Wiki. We hope the hunt helps you to get to know the wiki so that resources are easy to find when you need them.

---

See if you can find...

1. A short article that tells about how Formative Assessment differs from other assessment practices.
2. Examples, including photos, of how KEA teachers are managing formative assessment throughout their daily instructional routines.
3. Information about other districts' implementation plans for the 2016-17 school year.
4. A webinar for administrators that teaches how to use the electronic platform, including how to add users and manage administrator reports.

5. Information for administrators about how to create an Evidence Status Report within the NC K-3 Formative Assessment Process Online Platform.
6. An archive of current and past newsletters ("RIT Briefs") from your Regional Implementation Team.
7. A flyer for families, in Spanish, that tells about the K-3 Formative Assessment Process.
8. The Construct Progressions and Situations Book for use with the Kindergarten Entry Assessment Process.
9. An online learning module that teaches about one of the five critical components of the Formative Assessment Process.
10. The answer to a question you are getting frequently from teachers: "Is the Kindergarten Entry a benchmark assessment?"
11. A list of DIT resources shared during a past Regional Professional Development.
12. A guide that explains how to create a status summary.
